1. Personalized Jewelry

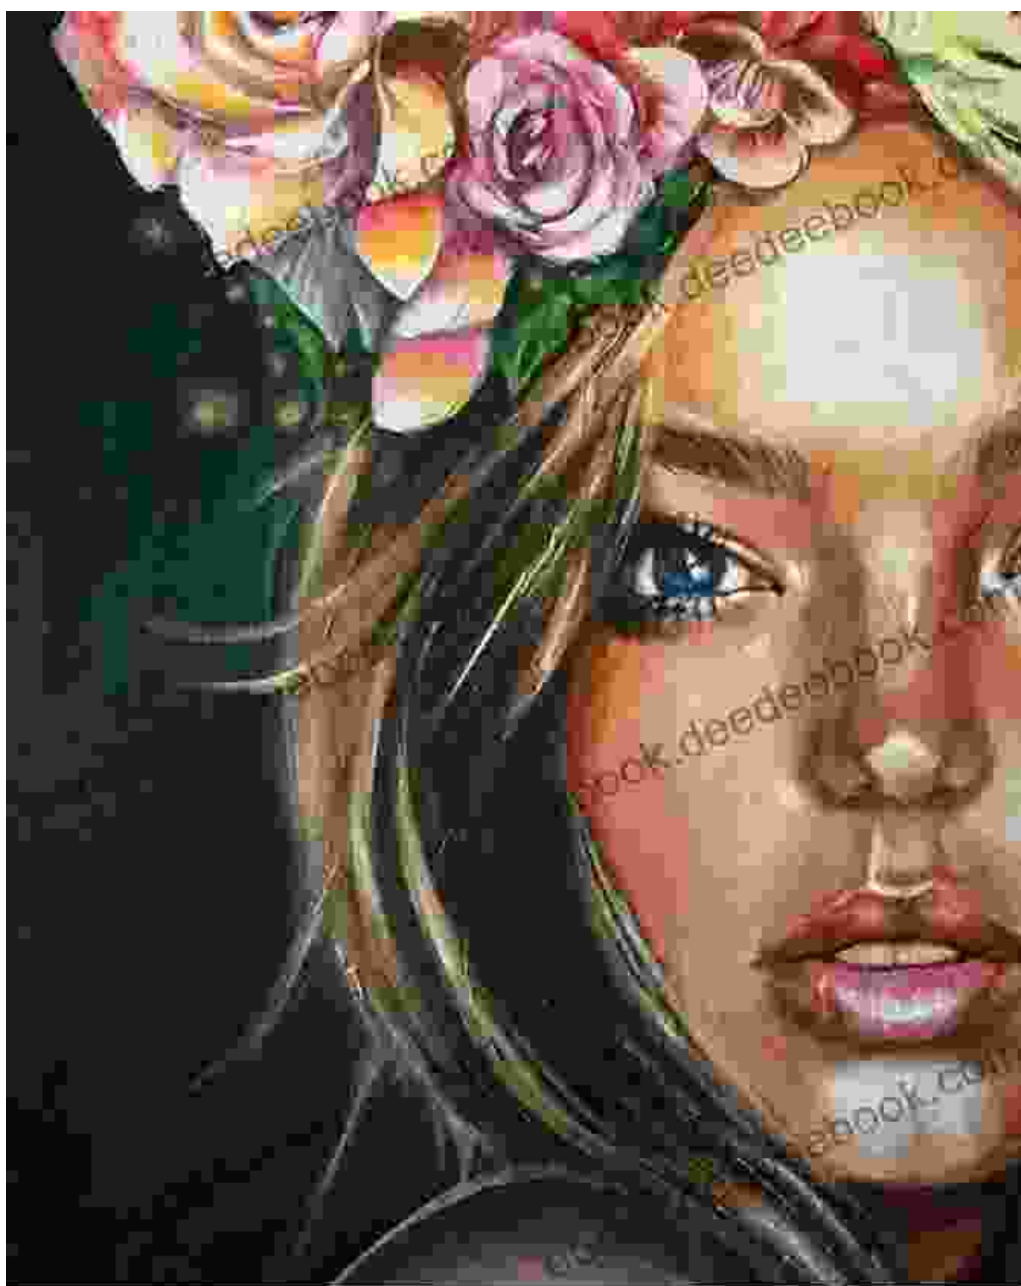

Tweens love to express their own unique style, and personalized jewelry is a great way to do that. There are endless possibilities when it comes to creating personalized jewelry, so tweens can really let their imaginations run wild. They can use beads, wire, fabric, and other materials to create necklaces, bracelets, earrings, and rings that are all their own. You can find comprehensive tutorials for each of these jewelry pieces on my website, www.diywithtweens.com.

2. Painted Canvas Wall Art

Another great way for tweens to express their creativity is through painted canvas wall art. They can use acrylic paints, markers, or other materials to create their own unique works of art. Painted canvas wall art is a great way to add some personality to their bedrooms or playrooms. It's also a great way to display their artwork and show everyone what they're capable of.

Check out Pinterest or my website for some easy step-by-step tutorials, as well as inspiration for their very own unique canvas wall art designs.

3. DIY Slime

Slime is all the rage right now, and it's a great DIY project for tweens. They can use simple ingredients like glue, water, and food coloring to create their own unique slime. Slime is a great way to relax and de-stress, and it's also a lot of fun to play with. There are tons of different recipes for slime online, so check out some of them with your tween and let them experiment to find their favorite one on my blog www.diywithtwins.com/blog.

4. Friendship Bracelets

Friendship bracelets are a classic DIY project that tweens love. They're a great way to show your friends how much you care. Tweens can use embroidery floss, yarn, or other materials to create their own unique friendship bracelets. They can also add beads or charms to personalize them. Friendship bracelets are a great way to show your friends how much you care and make them feel special. You can find instructions on how to make different kinds of friendship bracelets on www.diywithtweens.com/friendship-bracelets.

5. Homemade Bath Bombs

Bath bombs are a great way to relax and unwind after a long day of school or play. Tweens can use simple ingredients like baking soda, citric acid, and essential oils to create their own unique bath bombs. Bath bombs are also a great way to add some fun and excitement to bath time. You can find lots of easy recipes for homemade bath bombs on my website. Plus, I have included a safe and easy recipe specifically for tweens to use on their own. Check it out here: www.diywithtweens.com/homemade-bath-bombs.

These are just a few of the many DIY projects that tweens will love. With a little creativity and imagination, there are endless possibilities. So encourage your tweens to get creative and make something special. You may be surprised at what they can create!
